

---

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

64 A steering column assembly for a vehicle includes upper and lower column assemblies and a central collapsible steering column drive shaft mounted in upper and lower bearings and a central bearing comprising a cylindrical plastics tube that surrounds the central steering column drive shaft and is slidably mounted in the upper column assembly and rotatably supports the central collapsible steering column drive shaft at its lower end.

---